

FLORIST BANQUET FLOWERY AFFAIR

Washington Club Has Gay
Time at the Annual Dinner.

Members of the Washington Florists' Club, their wives, sweethearts, and friends, forgetting for the time being hot-houses, shops, and future delivery orders, made merry in their own distinctive way at the annual banquet, held at Congress Hall Hotel last night.

You could easily tell it was a florists' banquet. Evidences of their decorative art were on every side and the speeches were flowery at times, although Toastmaster William F. Gude opened festivities by saying it wasn't to be a talk-fest particularly.

Fred H. Kramer, recently re-elected president of the club, side-stepped the turn when it came to presiding, and boldly announced at the beginning that Mr. Gude would act for the rest of the evening. Mr. Gude looked surprised a bit, but, evidently remembering that Mr. Kramer was appearing at the annual banquet for the first time as a Benedict (he married just about a month ago), Mr. Gude got on the job, just as though he were presiding at a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce.

Present To Schaffer.

If there was one surprised man at the banquet it was George Schaffer, who recently resigned as secretary of the club. Mr. Gude first said a lot of nice things about Mr. Schaffer's energy, ability, and determination to do all the work, which caused the former secretary to look a little abashed. Just then the music started up. Mr. Gude held up a warning hand and, reaching under the table, began to uncover something. A moment later he had shoved into the hands of the astonished Mr. Schaffer a handsome silver bread tray. The retiring secretary expressed his surprised thanks, amusing the crowd considerably when he said he "wished it had been done a little more privately."

Between the speeches, in order that the orators might corral a good supply of breath and think of something different to say, the Greater Washington Quartet, R. W. Harris, A. J. Trunnell, E. L. Hutchinson, and A. W. Lyles, was heard in several popular selections. Mr. Gude's hand kept playing the balance of the time, making everybody feel happy.

Peter Bisset, former president of the club; L. Rosenzweig, a traveling plant salesman introduced as being from "everywhere," but claiming Philadelphia; and Secretary O. A. C. Oehmler were among the speakers, each having some word of congratulation on the growth of the club and the cleverness of the banquet arrangements.

Foreigners Present.

Another speaker was L. G. Entz van Entz, a grower, of Bockopp, Holland, who made a hit even if he did say that he couldn't speak English as well as some of those about him. Another florist from Holland was present—Henry Kallion. T. H. Tiller responded to a toast on behalf of the members of the press present.

The annual banquet follows the election of officers each year. The last election, held about a month ago, resulted in the re-choosing of F. H. Kramer as president, William Gude as treasurer, John Robertson as vice president, and in the selection of O. A. C. Oehmler to be secretary, succeeding Mr. Schaffer.

Prior to the banquet last night a business meeting was held, at which plans were formulated for holding the club's fall show.

WANT BIGGER SHARE OF APPROPRIATIONS

Citizens' Associations in Eastern
Part of City Will Petition Congress.

A meeting of representatives of citizens' associations east of the Capitol will be held April 30 for the purpose of forming a central committee to petition Congress for an equalization of appropriations among the various sections of the District.

A temporary organization was effected last night by the election of Capt. J. Walter Mitchell, of the Handle Hoists Association, chairman, and D. A. Edwards, of the Lincoln Park Association, secretary.

The members of the Takoma Park Citizens' Association are not opposing the installation of "pay-as-you-go" cars, according to Secretary John W. Dyne. According to Mr. Dyne at the last meeting of the association, there was no discussion of the question of "pay-as-you-go" cars. The only reference to the gas question by the Takoma association was when a member who attended the Chamber of Commerce meeting last Saturday reported what he had heard.

LECTURE DESCRIBES LAYMEN MOVEMENT

Foundation for Evangelization of World, Declares
Secretary White.

The evangelization of the world can be accomplished within the next twenty years if the Christian men and women will do their duty.

This is the opinion expressed by J. Campbell White of New York, secretary of the interdenominational laymen's missionary movement. Mr. White declared that the interdenominational movement will be the foundation on which the salvation of the world will be based and that the movement is growing in the United States and other sections of the world.

Next winter it is proposed to inaugurate a series of meetings in large cities throughout the country where the idea will be expressed by well-known lecturers. The general plan will be drawn by the concerted action of 5,000 or 6,000 Christian men throughout the country.

These predictions and statements regarding the new movement formed the gist of an address made by Mr. White last evening at the first banquet of the recently organized District of Columbia Federation of the Baptist Brotherhood, which, it is hoped, will be made an annual affair. Mr. White was the principal speaker and he made an extended address on the missionary movement.

S. W. Woodward presided at the tables as toastmaster and addresses were made by John B. Sieman, Jr., the Rev. J. J. Muir, and Prof. Mitchell Carroll.

THE ATTENTION YOUR TEETH REQUIRE

It is not the attention of the dentist whose only attraction is low prices. He's working solely for profit. On the other hand, I attend every tooth with the knowledge that a reputation gained here in Washington by over sixteen years' conscientious endeavor is at stake. My experience enables giving patients the high order of work their teeth should receive. My fixed policy of so satisfying every patient as to make them one of my staunchest advocates insures getting the best that is in me when entrusting me with dental work of any description.

Remnants of Embroideries

Wash Dress Goods, Laces, and Ribbons

The Summer Girl is now only in the cocoon stage—but she'll make great strides tomorrow towards the beautiful butterfly she's to be. A lis is below—but you can't be shown the rare treasures dotting each lot.

Wash Fabrics, Pastel Shades, 6c yard

Linen-finish Chambray, in daintily delicate colors, as imperishable as the health bloom on the summer girl's face. 25c yard would not seem dear for such fabrics. Here tomorrow at 6c yard.

The Treasures Among the Lace Remnants

Silk Laces in colors to harmonize with the color scheme of the summer girl's dress, up to 10 inches wide: 25c to $1.98 yard instead of 50c to $5.00. Black Silk Laces at 15c to 39c instead of up to $1.50 yard.

Trimmings at 15c, Ribbons at 5c yard

At 15c instead of 25c to 75c yard are richly embroidered net bands, fancy braids, and miscellaneous trimmings. At 5c instead of 15c to 40c yard are remnants of all kinds of ribbons. Go to second floor.

Embroideries, 18 in. wide, at 16c a yd.

Good Lengths—Shorter Pieces Almost Given Away

79c for $3 Embroideries

49c for $1.50 Embroideries

These aristocrats of the embroidery world may be mussed, tumbled, and thrown upon a table without regard to appearance, and yet they'll be recognized as aristocrats, just as surely as will the coarse and vulgar embroideries be exposed, though spick and span new and introduced with all the eclat of the real aristocracy. Think of only 18c yard for dainty Swiss and Cambric Embroideries, 18 inches wide. Think of only 49c a yard for 27-inch Embroideries in Irish Point effects. Most exquisite of all, at 79c instead of $3.00 a yard.

Reduced to 50c

First and Third Floor Tables

Only six of the hundreds of pieces here are pictured. Very many are 75c values; some worth $1.00.

Reduced to 75c

Easy enough to trim garments with cheap embroideries and laces, sell them at 75c, and reap a good profit in money. It takes courage to take $1.00 to $2.00 Lingerie and offer it at 75c.

To be $1.33

Five of the many $2.25 to $3.50 pieces, to be $1.33 for choice.
